Text. English grammar plays important role in learning of English. A student always starts the learning of English by dealing with the grammar. The grammar is the way of giving a student of the possibility of speaking English in an oral way. If a student had nothing to do with the grammar at the English lessons at the University it would be difficult for him to speak English in an oral way. It is not easy process for the student to deal with grammar the hard way. It is the complicated process of getting over the obstacles (learning of English grammar).

First of all, some types of the English grammar (educational and intuitional) exist in the system of the learning of the English grammar :

- Educational grammar is determined as the grammar of direct description of the English language in order to provide the mastering and regulation of grammar process ;
- Intuitional grammar is determined as the grammar of the knowledge which is the base of the abilities of the students carrying out reading, writing. [1, p. 98].

Secondly, the educational material plays important role in the learning of English grammar :

- The textbook of the English grammar containing theoretical material ;
- The table of the English Tenses and Verbs ;
- The textbooks of the English grammar for preparation of the students for the International tests. [2, p. 324].

Thirdly, it is known that an grammar exercise in spite of its dependence on level and complication includes three stages of activity :

- a stage of the planning ;
- a stage of the realization ;
- a stage of a control. [3, p. 64].

Fourthly, the purpose of the every single grammar exercise to form the grammar skills of the students. The fulfillment of various types of exercises is the responsible stage in mastering of the grammar material. [4, p. 86 - 91].

Fifthly, the students make some mistakes in the course of carrying out different grammar exercises. One should apply exercises for correcting mistakes, because they :

- prepare the students for fulfilling the analytical – corrective function of the grammar exercise ;
- enable the students to develop the cognitive processes by using of volume of the certain knowledge, mental operations ;
- control the level of the formation of the grammar competence of the students. [5, p. 22 - 23].

So, The English grammar is the one complicated way of learning English. Different types of exercises and educational material play important role in mastering of the grammar skills. The ways of carrying out stages of activity of the exercise affect the student heavily. Without learning of the English grammar, the student won't be able to start speaking English in an oral way. English grammar positively affect the student (applicant for the higher education) during the period of learning of English in the institutions of the higher education.
