

ENGLISH COURSES AND THEIR MEANING FOR THE STUDENT

Efremov Sergey Vladimirovich

candidate of pedagogical sciences, senior lecturer

National University of Pharmacy

c. Kharkiv, Ukraine

Abstract. Various aims of English courses are considered in the article. Effective methods of study in the English courses are analyzed in the article. Influence of English courses on the students is discovered in the article.

Key words. to master, to wish, to attend, to achieve, abroad, effective.

Text. Modern world is not possible without English. If a person masters English, he can achieve the large results in business or succeed in being promoted in every single enterprise. So lately a lot of people have been wishing to learn English by attending the English courses, because in mastering knowledge of the English, the chances of getting good job increase.

First of all, the English courses are attended because of various aims :

- business relationships with the people from abroad ;
- tourist business ;
- preparation for taking various qualified examinations ;
- learning of one more foreign language [1, p. 57].

Secondly, for successful effectiveness of learning of English in the English courses one should use effective methods of study, they are :

- presentations ;
- seminars ;
- various games ;
- debates in small groups ;

- modeling ;
- fulfillment of projects ;
- learning by doing ;
- gradual learning of grammar and lexical categories ;
- usage of phonetics ;
- writing of words ;
- expression of ideas ;
- learning of more difficult grammar constructions step by step ;
- learning of vocabulary by heart. [2, p. 45].

Thirdly, one should point that English courses must affect the people who attend them, because of :

- period of study ;
- equilibrium of learning of material consequently ;
- verified methodology of teaching ;
- fulfillment of different tasks ;
- groups of people must consist of twelve persons ;
- control of doing the hometasks ;
- proper practical necessity of attending them ;
- desire and activeness ;
- suitable situation of study. [3, p. 34].

So, The English courses are the one of the basic way of learning English. The various aims which affect the work of English course play important role in the learning of English. The effective methods of study are very important during English courses. The English courses are important element of learning of the English and they are the main factor to involve the person in learning English in a free time.

REFERENCES

1. Kozurina A. M. Effective learning of the English in the English courses. - Z.: Golden staff. – 2016. - P. 57.
2. Tetkina V. M. Eight advices how to choose the English courses in a proper way. – K.: Science, technics and education. - 2014. - P. 45.
3. Golovkina M. V. What is important to know about preparative courses. – K.: Study. – 2014. – P. 34.